

A large white rectangular area with a black border, intended for writing or drawing. A vertical dotted line is positioned approximately one-third of the way from the left edge, extending from the top of the writing area down to the bottom.

A large white rectangular area with a thin black border, containing a vertical dotted line down the center, serving as a writing space.